Dr. Jacques Caroli
#1 BIS, Rue Vaneau
Paris VII, FRANCE

Dear Dr. Caroli:

I must first apologize to you for not writing at an earlier time. However, my program has prevented my doing better. I have been invited to serve as Secretary of a section on gastrointestinal endoscopy at the Rome meeting of the World Congress on July 4. My wife and I will be in Paris at a hotel and we will get in touch with you by phone upon arrival. There we will be the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th. We will leave on the 8th for Copenhagen and the rest of the Congress. Perhaps, you and Mrs. Caroli will be attending also.

World Congress

I have made lecture demonstrations, illustrated by slides or movies for the U.S. Department of State, in East and West Africa and in Asia, in the field of gastroscopy during the last few years. I have been asked if I can get in one or two similar illustrated lectures during this trip to Europe. I don't wish to work too hard on this trip, but in response to suggestions I thought of you as being a person who might set up such a talk for interns and residents and interested attending doctors at one of your hospitals for any one of the days that I will be in Paris. If this is not too much trouble for you at this time, I would be pleased. U.S. State Department officials may get in touch with you through the American Embassy during the next few days. At any rate, my wife and I hope to see you during the period that we will be in Paris. If you have time, please let me know by return mail whether you will be in Paris at that time.

I hope you and the family are in the very best of health.

With sincerest regards and best wishes,
