Dear Dr. Berry:

I know you are surprised to hear from me, but it was inevitable that I would have to contact you about the marvelous book, "I Wouldn't Take Nothing for My Journey", which you so kindly shared with me.

It is a fascinating work which I have read twice. The second reading was done during air travel to and from Africa, and on flights within the African continent. Your book is a great contribution.

I have advised the librarians at Morgan State University and Coppin State College (both of which are located in the City of Baltimore) that copies should be secured for their libraries. I hope they will follow through.

Thank you once again for providing an enriching experience for me.

With every best wish for your continued success, I am

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Parren J. Mitchell". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large initial "P".
