Dear Leonidas:

Your discussion of the Premedication paper in Colorado Springs is just so good and so valuable that I can't bear to use it at the end of the main article, simply as a discussion. This is or would be a very, very valuable editorial for our Journal. I wonder if you would mind reading it over, thinking of it as an editorial rather than a discussion, and making any little changes that you might like, for use in this latter capacity. I certainly hope you will not change its very informal and personal character. As a matter of fact, perhaps you would like to change only parts of the first paragraph.

In this brief discussion you covered some of the most important points that are known to the seasoned endoscopist but appear to have been forgotten by the younger men. I surely hope you will agree to its use as an editorial.

Sincerely,

Eddy
