

Life

Life is something that I can't understand it is gloomy, it is sad, it is gay, today it is full of happiness, tomorrow you are sad all day.

I wonder if it is due to environment, to our emotions or our choice of friends, that we are turned from left to right, and our souls to cry for revenge.

Sometimes you think you have a friend, then later you discover he's a foe, that will cause you to get discouraged, and your whole life be filled with woe.

So when you find that you have found someone that is really a friend, always try to be kind to him stand by him to the end.
