Dear Doctor Berry:

I am writing to say that I am back at work and treating patients in the manner in which you instructed us to do. I had to take this opportunity to write to you, to thank you most sincerely, as well as your staff, including Dr. Villa and Dr. Adamvicious. I want to thank you for the courtesies, expertise in which you were able to instruct us in the fundamentals of Endoscopy.

Needless to say, we felt very much at home at the school, and with your colleagues for the first time in any clinical type of course that I was allowed to participate rather than observe. I think that I speak for the rest of us in sharing our feelings that we learned what we came to learn. Hopefully, we can bring back to our own community the knowledge imparted to us. I want you to know, that I as an individual, and as a colleague, do appreciate very much the courtesies that you showed to me and I am looking forward with anticipation to your book which is forthcoming. I will certainly read it cover to cover.

Again, many thanks to yourself, my other instructors and my personal regards to Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Hilton for their cooperation and their endurance with us.

Most sincerely,

Melvin Moskowitz, MD
