Dear Doctor Berry:

After reading your letter of February 4, 1957, I feel that a meeting is indicated of the staffs of the Northwestern University Clinic, the Provident Hospital Clinic, you and I. Previous to such a meeting, however, it might be a good idea to have your planned talk with Doctor Boshes, as you suggested. You could then pass on the results of the discussion to me before we have the more formal get-together. Probably some time in March would be most suitable for me.

In your letter you made reference to Doctor Boshes' request for an additional $39,000. I presume you intended to say $3,800, which is the amount he needs in excess of the present budget; unless perhaps you were referring to the supplemental budget for $60,000.

When I hear from you with regard to the results of your meeting with Doctor Boshes, I will make further plans.

Thank you and with best regards.
