Dear Doctor Berry:

We are glad to learn that your Liaison Committee has accepted the invitation of the AMA Board of Trustees to meet with it at 11:00 a.m. through lunch on April 1.

To avoid a misunderstanding, I should like to point out that the Board will be in continuous session for two days and can allot only the time scheduled for the meeting with you and the other representatives of the National Medical Association. Also, there will be no opportunity for a meeting prior to this time inasmuch as the Liaison Committee members are involved in this meeting of the Board; and their schedules are such that a meeting on a date other than April 1 is impossible.

Too, it was felt that such an arrangement would afford the members of the NMA an even better opportunity to make a presentation than to a more limited group such as the Liaison Committee.

We look forward to a mutually beneficial review of problems of interest to the NMA and the AMA.

Sincerely,
